PROGRAM

The Department of Spanish and Portuguese Studies and the Department of Biology invite you to participate in an experience that will expand your linguistic and cultural fluency through language study and health-related community service. Based on Spanish-language level, students will be placed in a variety of settings, including hospitals, medical clinics, pharmacies and/or with dentists. Students will have the opportunity to improve their command of Spanish, compare health systems, learn about diseases, and explore the cultures of South America. UF in Cusco is organized in conjunction with International Studies Abroad (ISA).

LOCATION

Situated high in the Andes Mountains in Southeastern Peru, Cusco stands tall as the ancient capital of the Inca Empire. It is a must-see destination in South America, due to the preservation of its culture displayed in amazing archaeological sites, architecture, and colorful Peruvian dress.

EXCURSIONS

Machu Picchu & the Sacred Valley: visit a llama & alpaca petting zoo and wander through the impressive Chincheros market. Puno & Lake Titicaca: spend a night with the Aymara families who live over floating artificial islands of Lake Titicaca, where many ancestral customs still exist.

HOUSING

You will experience the unique culture of Cusco by living with a host family while on the program. In addition to having an opportunity to be immersed in the Spanish language, you will observe and experience aspects of the Peruvian lifestyle that are inaccessible to most visitors.

COURSE INFORMATION

All students will take the following courses:

SPN 3573: Immersion in a Hispanic Community (3 credits)

Taught in Spanish; Prerequisite: at least one course at SPN 2000 level or equivalent

ZOO 4956: Emerging Disease in the Americas (3 credits)
